Good morning ZBA and Ashley Clark:

In the beginning of these Omni hearings David Hale used words like “hidden” to describe his project. Six stories and even 5 stories is excess for our neighborhood. As a concerned neighbor I think any building that exceeds 4 stories is out of context with the neighborhood. David Hale sounded willing to take off 1 floor reducing his total unit number to 269 units. I feel like he can achieve this number and adjust his plan to a four story building design. I urge the ZBA and town council to restrict building to 4 floors max and total units 269.

Thank you

Good morning Amy Messier,

I’m a concerned neighbor and strongly oppose any building structure over 4 stories. Both neighbors and future residents of the project have right to privacy from noise and sight pollution. David Hale used the word “hidden” a lot in the beginning talks of this project. He also sounded willing to reduce his apartments to 5 stories, sacrificing 31 units. I ask, beg and plea with the council and ZBA to cut buildings to four stories and adjusting the plan to suit the numbers. In this case I believe 269 total units.

Save our skyline and preserve our small town feel.

Thank you,

John Kaselis
